$10,000 Damage in Hope Brick Works Fire

Fire at Hope Brick Works shortly before 4 a.m. Tuesday caused an estimated $10,000 damage to equipment and building in the department. There was no loss of life.

Damage was confined to bins, conveying and screening machines and the building housing the equipment. Although damage is extensive the brick plant is still in production, according to John B. Gardner, production manager. However, loss of much of the room would curtail production in event of bad weather. The blaze started from the drying house where open gas fires are left on during extremely cold weather to prevent tile and brick from freezing. Local firemen prevented the blaze from spreading to the rest of the plant.

Red Army Holds U. S. Convoy Five Soldiers

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union today held a U. S. Army convoy of four cargo trucks and five soldiers on the East German autobahn within sight of the West German border. The convoy was en route from Berlin to West Germany.

The U. S. Army charged that the convoy had been detained for more than 24 hours with the obvious intention of creating an incident on the 110-mile lifeline. The Red army was handed two stern protests and demands for immediate release.

But the Soviet Union brushed off the protests. Negotiations for release of the convoy bogged down.

The corporal in charge refused Soviet demands Monday night for inspection of the open cargo of jeeps and the trucks. He and his men spent the night muffled in blankets in the trucks.

The U. S. Army unit at the checkpoint, just over the border in West Germany, was not to supply the men with hot meals.

The Soviet army let the convoy pass out of West Berlin on the 110-mile run through Communist East Germany but stopped it at the checkpoint at Marienborn at 1:05 p.m. just as it was ready to cross into West Germany.

The autobahn is the road link from the West to Allied garrisons in isolated West Berlin. The men, all personnel of the 28th Transportation Battalion, were listed by the army as: Cpl. Richard C. Masters of West Stockbridge, Mass.; Benjamin G. Peoples of Theodore, Ala.; Elwood T. Johnson, Brooklyn, N. Y.; James E. Cook of Hardsville, S. C. and Robert E. Loves of Plain City, Ohio.

The army announced this morning it was in contact with Soviet officials in Berlin and Frankfurt and was trying to get the trucks cleared into West Germany.

"They (the Russians) indicated only that they would take our request under consideration," said a U. S. Army spokesman after finding Burns, political adviser to the U. S. mission in East Berlin had presented the request.

Allied military trains and civilian highway and air traffic were running normally in and out of West Berlin even while the convoy was blocked.

Federal Judge Denies Board Request to Open Schools at Little Rock

No Vote on Resolution to Keep Eldridge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A resolution asking that the state Highway Commission reconsider its acceptance of Highway Director Herbert Eldridge's resignation was submitted in the Arkansas House today. But the lower chamber refused to call it up for action.

The proposal "respectfully but urgently" asked the Highway Commission to hire Eldridge again as director. He quit last month after serving about six years in the position.

Hot Springs Rep. Dewey Siles, who authored the resolution, moved to suspend House rules and bring the measure to a vote. But his motion failed when it got only 47 of a required 67 votes.

Thirty-three lawmakers voted against suspension of the rules. This meant that the proposal must go to the Resolutions Committee, which is headed by Perry Rep. Paul Van Dalsen, a foe of Eldridge.

Siles' resolution—similar to one which failed in the House recently—praised Eldridge's "outstanding ability and untiring efforts" to improve the highway system.

The resolution asserted that Eldridge's work as director resulted in a program "which is a model of excellence." It also said the "excellent job Eldridge has done."

Eldridge told the Highway Commission that he was resigning, effective March 1, in the best interests of the Highway Department. The commission has named R. B. Winfrey acting highway director.

In other action today, the House approved a resolution urging Congress to provide a $100 a month pension for World War I veterans.

Painted Signs and Got a Ticket

VALHALLA, N.Y. (AP)—Angelo Greco of Chappaqua works in the paint shop at Grasslands Hospital. He paints "no parking" signs. Police issued a parking ticket after they noticed an automobile parked next to one of Greco's signs in this Westchester community. The car was Greco's.

Danish Ship to Norfolk After Blast

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Danish tanker Skotland, a fire in her engine room extinguished, headed toward Norfolk today under escort of the Coast Guard cutter Abscon.

The master of the 559-foot tanker reported no one was injured in the fire or the explosion that preceded it.

The Abscon arrived early today at the Skotland's position, 210 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C. The tanker reported the fire shortly after 10:30 p.m. Monday.

In her first radio message, the Skotland reported it was impossible for crewmen to enter the engine room. She later reported the fire was under control and the situation was "satisfactory."

The tanker will be repaired here.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Danish tanker headed for Norfolk, Va., today for repairs after an explosion and engine room fire 200 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

The Coast Guard reported the fire was out.

The tanker Skotland is loaded with oil and was coming north either from Curacao or Aruba.

The master of the 559-foot motor tanker radiated there were no injuries and the ship's condition was "satisfactory."

Oregon Union Official to Face Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee testified today in the court trial of an Oregon Teamster official charged with lying before the committee.

Clyde Crosby, an international organizer for the Teamsters, swore before the committee in March 1957 that he had not met with James B. (Big Jim) Elkins of Portland, an admitted racketeer, and Thomas J. Sheridan in November, 1954.

Sheridan, official of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission, was suspended in October, 1954 for allegedly receiving a $41 gratuity.

Government attorneys are counting on Sheridan as a key witness in their effort to show that the Sheridan-Elkins-Crosby meeting took place in Crosby's office in November, 1954.

Philip T. White, Justice Department attorney, said he also expects Sheridan to tell about a meeting between the late Gov. Paul F. Patterson and Crosby about the Sheridan suspension. Sheridan later was returned to duty.

Richard R. Carney and Thomas A. Wadden Jr., counsel for Crosby, contend testimony given by Crosby before the senate Rackets Committee was not material to the investigation being made by the committee.

The McClellan committee had been inquiring into an alleged tie in between organized labor and television shows and were idols of the teen-age rock 'n' roll set.

There will be a meeting at Hempstead Courthouse Thursday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the hiring of a professional appraiser to assist the Tax Assessor in hiring of an appraiser was approved at the last meet of the Quorum Court. All taxing units of the County will attend the meet.

Game and Fish Commission reports the return of 37 bonds from ducks killed in 14 Arkansas counties. One band was sent in by a Hempstead hunter.

City Police report a winged-type bird ornament was stolen from an auto owned by Floyd Langston yesterday. The auto was parked downtown.

Dr. Lloyd Guerin, Hope optometrist, has been invited to attend and participate in the 18th annual Southwestern Congress of Optometrists.

Assessment Bill Again Before Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Senate was expected to take up again today a bill to extend the deadline for compliance with the state's property reassessment law.

The Senate passed the measure by a wide margin yesterday, then found it would have to vote on it again because of a technicality.

It would extend to the end of this year the deadline for counties to bring property assessments to 18 per cent of appraised value. Several counties face the loss of state turnback funds for failure to comply with the original deadline, December of last year.

Sen. Jack Shelton of Monticello, sponsor of the measure, guided the bill to a 27-4 favorable vote with no discussion. Then it was found the bill had not been handled properly at one stage and another vote became necessary. That balloting was expected today.

In the House yesterday, a bill was introduced which would empower the governor to fill all school board vacancies which occurred to any reason other than the expiration of regular terms.

Hempstead Rep. Thelton Foid Jr., who sponsored the measure, said present school laws were unclear on how school board positions should be filled in case of death or resignation.

The bill provides that the governor's appointees would serve until the next regular election. It also provides that the appointees would be eligible to be candidates to succeed themselves.

There were among bills passed by the Senate:

A measure to remove a five million dollar ceiling on the amount of bonds a city may have outstanding at one time.

A measure sponsored by the Arkansas Municipal League to modernize the state's purchasing law. A bill to levy a use tax on cars purchased outside Arkansas and brought into the state.

The House passed several measures, including a bill to declare state cigarette taxes are levied against the consumer to make the taxes deductible on federal income tax returns.

Other bills passed by the House included:

One specifying that county clerks will collect marriage license fees at the time of application, rather than when licenses are picked up after the required three-day waiting period.

Aerospace Master Key to Survival

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Thomas D. White, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, said today that the nation which maintains mastery of aerospace will hold the means for survival.

White gave this estimate to the House Space Committee in hearings on how the United States is faring in the space race with the Soviet Union.

White used a broader term—aerospace—to include air-breathing weapons like airplanes and low-level missiles in addition to space craft like satellites and missiles.

He called for a broad space program which "must closely coordinate the full potential of our national resources."

There has been Democratic criticism in both House and Senate that President Eisenhower's space program is not enough to keep the United States up with the Soviet Union in the space race. A split appeared in Republican ranks on the House Committee over the matter to.

Senate Labor Group Back in Business

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee got back in business today with a new investigation of James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said he hoped to learn whether teamsters who had rebelled against Hoffa's rule but now are seeking to preserve it are receiving any union funds. IAAQ he said, he will want to know why.

McClellan said witnesses at a hearing this afternoon would be asked who is financing a federal circuit court appeal which seeks to block court-appointed monitors from policing the union.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said the witnesses would include John Cunningham, a Flushing, N. Y., teamster who filed the suit, Cunningham originally led 13 New York area teamsters who sued in an effort to prevent Hoffa from taking office a year ago as the union's international president. That suit ended in appointment of the monitor group.

The Senate Monday voted the Labor-Management Committee another year of authority and $750,000 to finance its work. Its authority had lapsed Saturday midnight.

Police said Billy Dial, 21, had been identified as the person who held up Martin Berk in his haberdashery Saturday night.

The robber held one hand man in a pocket in his jacket during the $100 holdup, Berk told police.

Police said after they captured Dial and asked him what he had done with his gun, he smiled slyly and drew a small pocket Bible from his coat.

"I used this," he said.

DOROTHY DIX

Nosy Neighbor Needs Needling

Dear Dorothy Dix:

We recently moved into a new neighborhood. Three of us from our house go to business and we are joined every day by the man who lives next door. He sits in the bus with us and apparently has mistaken the bus for an inquisition chamber. He tackles our most personal problems and asks anything about them: how much we paid for the house, what we paid for the car, where we work, and any minute now we expect him to ask our salaries. He's quite frank about his own affairs, telling us things we would really rather not know. He's a loud talker, too. What can we do to let him know we want to mind our own business and have him do likewise? — Perplexed.

Dear P.: You can seldom get anywhere by telling these gregarious gents to stay out of your affairs, so why not have some fun with him. Exaggerate everything you tell him. Place a fantastic price on the house, car, give yourself a whopping salary (but don't let the Internal Revenue man hear you), build everything into an obvious fairy tale. Meanwhile, try to get up an auto pool for transportation or get acquainted with someone else who travels by bus and can use the fourth seat. That will leave Mr. Nosy to find another companion. Only once have I had personal contact with a nosy neighbor. We had just bought a new house and she put me in the question box. I had just one answer to every question, "I don't know." — and I really didn't because I have a notoriously bad memory for figures. She never bothered me again.

Training School.
Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Harris left for El Dorado on Monday to attend the Arkansas Christian Ministers Institute. Mrs. Harris is the retiring president of the Arkansas Christian Ministers' Wives Association.

Mrs. Don Griner and children, Don and Arden, visited Mrs. Harold Moll in Stuttgart this past weekend.

Mrs. Paul Klipsch returned Saturday from San Antonio where she met her new grandnephew, Harley Allen Mueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Mueller. While in that city she was the house guest of Col. and Mrs. Pete Zanoa.

Don Davis left Tuesday for the west coast to take equipment made by Klipsch and Associates that will be shown in an Audio Show in Los Angeles.

Paul Klipsch, M. J. Porter, E. L. Archer, Jr., and Webb Laseter, Jr. attended a meeting of Royal Arch Masons in Prescott Tuesday night, and Mr. Klipsch earned a degree in that type of Masonic work.

Hospital Notes
Branch Admitted: Rodney Tompkins of Rt. 1 Hope; Mrs. James Lively, Pine Bluff; Mrs. Exie McClellan, Palmos.

Memorial
Admitted: Mrs. Clifford A. Thomas, Rt. 1 Palmos; Paul Bain, Hope; Mrs. Lula Johnson, Emmet; Mrs. Harley E. Sisson, Hope.

Discharged: Lawrence Nelms of Hope.

Rev. and Mrs. Harley E. Sisson of Hope announce the arrival of a baby boy, born Feb. 3, 1959.

Object Turns Out To Be Golf Ball

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Officer Thomas Penley got a call from the dispatcher that said "1410. Mitehah." Report of a woman laughing "I found object. It's unknown!"

He discovered Mrs. William Todd Jr. very unhappy. Something in these activities. The young people you'll meet have jobs in the day time as you have. You can entertain them at home over weekends. I'm sure mother doesn't want to make a hero of you. Don't make one out of yourself.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Four months ago I married a woman to whom I am very devoted. She seems to love me when we're alone but as soon as a number of her family shows up, she shoves into the background. She gets furious at things I do but when her brother does the same things, she thinks it's funny. — Meyer.

Dear Meyer: The little woman is acting like a show-off-teen-ager. Treat her accordingly. Let her know who is boss, at least until she assumes her role as responsible spouse.

Fast Talker Gets Thieves Arrested

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — When two men robbed Robert Barker King of his watch and $600, he convinced them they were just the ones he needed to help him.

small and white had hopped into a coffee cup, then hopped around the kitchen, ending up in the dishwasher drain.

Penley captured it and discovered it was a broken golf ball. The lightly wound rubber sheathing was popping free through a break in the cover.

Armory Burns, Ammunition Escapes Fire

SPRINGFIELD, Mich. (AP)—Fire, whipped by 20 m.p.h. winds, burned out the three-story Ishpeming Armory today, but did not set off 15,000 rounds of small arms ammunition stored in a basement vault.

Firemen whose efforts were hampered by ice forming in 16-degree weather, saved their building across the street, threatened by a time as flaming tarpaper caught by the wind, roof was blown out by the wind.

No one was injured, although one fireman jumped from the second story to escape being overcome by smoke. He landed unhurt.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Fire departments were called from nearby Negaunee and Marquette to fight the blaze which gave off dense clouds of black smoke as it ate through the wooden insides of the old building.

When flaming tarpaper began to fly from the roof, St. John's Catholic School, a block away, was evacuated as a precaution.

It was feared for a time that the fire might set off ammunition. Capt. Arthur Savolainen of the National Guard said it was in a concrete basement vault, but that the vault had a wooden door.

James S. Nicholls, Ishpeming police clerk, declared, however, authorities never seriously feared explosion of the ammunition, since it was stored in the basement and that flight of either the bullet or shell hull would have been a short one under such circumstances.

The armory housed Headquarters Co. of the 10th Engineer Battalion of the Michigan National Guard, which lost radio equipment valued at $50,000 by one guardsman in the fire. An estimate on total damage was not available immediately.

The building was the third largest in this Upper Peninsula city. It originally was a YMCA, but was remodeled several years ago into an armory.

Shipload of Oil Cracks Curtain

NEW YORK (AP)—A shipload of oil, described as a trial cargo that may lead to the breaking of the trade barrier between East and West, is due here from behind the Iron Curtain this month.

The Commerce Oil Corp., with home offices in Warren, Pa., said Monday it had ordered 15,000 to 16,000 tons of residual oil—an industrial fuel—from Romania.

Henry R. Lewis, corporation president, said the oil's low sulphur content makes it a premium product, which is in short supply in this country.

"We don't like them (the Russians) any more than you do," Lewis said, "but this low-sulphur oil is badly needed."

The company said it had not bought the oil at a cut-price, or to upset the domestic market.

Lewis called the shipment a trial cargo that "may point the way toward a peaceful exchange of needed products between the East and West."

He indicated further shipments would follow to meet the need here.

In 1957, more than 877,000 Americans died of heart and blood vessel diseases.

Chapter XX

Mattie Bastian hauled to a stop in front of the desk and laid the pale weight of his glance on Clint Hyatt.

"The last time we talked you crawled behind that same flimsy excuse, Hyatt; that you had to have a warrant out of Carmody's court before you could act. You don't need a warrant to get along out there and boot Yeager off that ranch."

"And just what, Hyatt, murmured, 'would I charge him with? What would I offer for reason or cause?'"

Bastian waved an impatient arm. "There's plenty to charge him with. I'm telling you that he and Mims and old man Trezevant went in there, threw guns on Stark here, and the rest of our men, and run them off the place under the threat of those guns. What more cause or reason do you need than that?"

A ghost of that inner amusement became a bleak gleam in Clint Hyatt's eyes.

"If," he said, with slow distinctiveness, "such a thing came easier to me, I'd be laughing myself sick, Bastian. When I think of the high and mighty way all you combine buckos have swaggered up and down this prairie, and now to hear you wail and whine because you at your own game of take it and keep it — why, yeah, that sure does make for a long, loud laugh. Only —" and here Hyatt came upright in his chair and gave his words a forward-leaning emphasis, "when you played rough you were outside the law, while what friend Yeager did last

Across The Counter

Kenneth McMurrough

"I've been debating mentally whether to ask you to review my entire insurance program," said Floyd McMurrough, a successful local farmer.

"Don't debate it any longer," replied McMurrough. "It's a good idea and I'll tell you why."

"I continued, 'From the insurance viewpoint as well as perhaps others, farming is subject to much higher hazards than was true a generation ago.'

"In the days of horses, farmers needed just a small inventory of machinery and equipment. Now, nearly any farm will have $5000 to $15,000 worth, and often more. And in those days, the liability hazard from equipment was small. Old Dobbin might possibly kick someone.

"But now, tractors, trucks, and other self-propelled machines move along the roads, creating heavy hazards."

"Not too many years ago, too, farm homes were considered second-rate residences. Today, however, they average as high, or higher, in value than the ones in town. A $7,500 to $20,000 farm home is not at all uncommon."

"So you see, farmers have large investments to protect with insurance, both from the fire and liability standpoints."

"The modern farm needs adequate and broad insurance protection. Since the farm risks are so varied, farmers are perhaps MORE in need of expert insurance counseling than a local businessman of comparable net worth."

"May we work out the proper FARM PROTECTION PROGRAM for you?"

Revenue Collections Higher in January

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Revenue Department said today that Arkansas revenue collections in January were $501,699 higher than in the same period a year ago.

Acting Revenue Commissioner Ed McLes said auto license fees increased $122,579, gasoline tax collections were up $98,478, and the state sales tax take rose $307,372.

Special revenues increased by $284,665 and general revenues by $220,033, McLes reported.

He said special revenues collected in January totaled $7,725,834.

Dulles Off for Germany With Counter Plan

By WARREN ROGERS JR., WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flies to Europe today, apparently in a bid for Allied support of some sort of counter-proposal to the Soviet Union on the German problem.

What Dulles has in mind, if indeed it is fully thought out, remained to be seen. It appeared he has a number of ideas to try out on the top officials at London, Paris and Bonn.

Dulles and a small party of selected advisers head first for while general revenues amounted to $6,004,459. The total of the two was $14,330,296.

London, going next to Paris and then to Bonn. In all, Dulles will be away for about a week.

At the State Department, meanwhile, high-ranking officials of the four Allied governments start drafting a reply to the Soviet Union's Jan. 10 note.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), soon to be chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, conferred with Dulles Monday night on this and other matters. After the hour-long conference at Dulles' home, Fulbright informed newsmen:

"The secretary told me that he was considering very seriously the question of counter-proposals of what can be done."

Fulbright said that was the response he got when he told Dulles the West should do more than simply reject Soviet demands, that some counter-proposals should also be made. The senator said he did not suggest any himself.

But he added that one proposal discussed was an old one, to create a buffer zone several hundred miles wide through Germany. Under it, Soviet and Allied troops would be pulled back a considerable distance from both sides of the Elbe River.

Dulles then, according to Fulbright, held forth on the problems of leadership in the West. He told Fulbright that no matter what course the United States set for itself, it had to be cleared in some way with America's allies. The Soviets on the other hand, "have only themselves to consult."

Dulles appeared to have his hands full. Despite details, there seemed to be considerable difficulty among the four Allies about how to meet the new Soviet pressure.

More than 2,317,000 Americans died of heart and blood vessel diseases during the four years of World War II.
